The Wildrose methodology of gundog training is perfect for the waterfowl and upland game hunter seeking a calm, controllable game finding companion which is equally proficient in the field as compatible in the home. The Wildrose Way is a totally unique approach to gundog training perfected in the field and marsh, realistic hunting situations.

Participants will learn how to train their gundogs for a variety of game through positive reinforcement, avoiding the use of e-collars, force fetch, spike collars and other mechanical training techniques. You will see the difference in dogs after just one session!
